- ✓ For high school students who are interested in a career in business, technology or logistics.
- ✓ Achieve real-world business experience to add to your resume and/or college applications.
- ✓ Develop leadership, innovation, collaboration and entrepreneurial skills.

Be innovative and get ahead of the game at this in-person educational event! You will work in small teams with your classmates utilizing Design Thinking to help solve real-world business problems that companies like SCHNEIDER do every day. You will have access to SCHNEIDER and IBM business and technology professionals throughout the day as you prepare for a final presentation to a panel of organizational leaders. Awards and recognition will be given to top performing teams.
